

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0079] A system to monitor performance may include at least one probe to collect data related to performance of an associated domain. The system may also include at least one base station to receive data from associated ones of the at least one probe.